SWEAT is a community based development organization that seeks to enhance education and provision of other basic social services to the pastoralists, agro-pastoralists, peasants and other poor communities in Kiteto District. Awareness raising, community participation and functional skills in literacy are priorities. Their goal is to have “an educated society, with access to basic social services and free from all kinds of discrimination and injustices”.

To achieve this goal the organization has identified both strategic aims and specific objectives as follows.

Strategic Aims
- to support education programmes that address community needs for sustainable development;
- to support community projects aimed at providing conducive learning environments to learners in the area; and,
- to enhance economic diversification of the targeted groups.

Specific Objectives
- to improve early childhood development centers, nursery schools, primary schools adult literacy classes and secondary schools in the area;
- to mobilize, fundraise and receive contributions, donations, gifts, grants to finance the organization planned activities;
- to raise nutritional level and the general standard of living of the poor;
- to improve and encourage appropriate sustainable land use plans for the area;
- to empower the society on their land rights, land use management, land alienation and encroachment;
- to support establishment of vocational training centers, libraries, cultural centers within the District;
- to promote recognition of and contributions by women, the aged, the disabled, children and youth to the development process in the District;
- to finance secondary education among students from poor families, especially girls;
- to create awareness on HIV/AIDS to the society; and,
- to strengthen the capacity of SWEAT, as an organization so that it attains its strategic aims.

Contact Person:
Gabriel Ole Tuke

---

Profile extracted from SWEAT constitution by the Kesho Trust